

Pictures from Chenoa Stock, Mission Co-Worker in Bolivia
Reflection/Action Delegation Trip with Presbyterians from the U.S.

Ramona and Cristina, community members of Machacamarca, explain the situation of how the mining waste that is dumped into the river, flows to their community downstream and has affected the livestock, agriculture, health and community.

Greenhouse owners of the Tilata community proudly show us their greenhouses and explain its benefits.

Enjoying a home-made meal with the Tilata community members, after learning about their greenhouse project

The Tilata community with the US delegation and UMAVIDA partners

The US Delegation and UMAVIDA partners after our final evaluation workshop

The US Delegation (with Chenoa)